

Jotwell 2019 Summer Break

Author : Jotwell

Date : August 19, 2019

Jotwell is taking a short summer break. Posting will resume on Monday, September 2. However, even while we're on break, we'll be accepting submissions, editing them, and updating various technical parts of the site.

Now that you know how much you miss us, this is good time to ask you to please help support Jotwell; your donation, however small, helps demonstrate the breadth of support for the enterprise.

JOTWELL

THE JOURNAL OF THINGS WE LIKE (LOTS)

Celebrating Excellent Legal Scholarship

Jotwell is an online, blog-style law review that publishes reviews of the most interesting and relevant law journal articles. Reviews are short—typically 500-1000 words—and easy to read, even if you don't (yet) specialize in any particular legal field. Jotwell's reviewers and 300+ Contributing Editors are leading professors and professionals from around the world. Jotwell's Editor-in-Chief is A. Michael Froomkin, Laurie Silvers & Mitchell Rubenstein Distinguished Professor of Law at the University of Miami.

WHY SHOULD LAW STUDENTS READ JOTWELL?

- Keep up-to-date on the most pressing issues in law (and beyond)
- Reviews are written to appeal to people who are not yet legal experts
- Reviews take only minutes to read, but give you a taste of articles and books that might inspire further reading
- Learn about a wide range of topics, including mandatory 1L classes such as Torts, Criminal Law, and Property
- Expand your thinking
- Get inside of your professors' minds and get useful ideas to enrich your own writing
